Wisconsin Respects Memory Of Late War Governor

HOLD FUNERAL FOR PHILIPP ON THURSDAY

Masons to Conduct Services in Milwaukee With State Officials Attending

FLAGS AT HALF MAST

Gov. Blaine Pays Tribute to Former Associate in Wisconsin Capitol

Milwaukee — Funeral services for Emanuel L. Philipp, war time governor of Wisconsin, who died at a hospital here late Monday will be held Thursday. Two services, one private at the home at 10 o'clock, with Governor J. J. Blaine, state officials, members of the supreme court and others in high office attending, and public services at the Scottishrite cathedral at 2 p.m.

Flags were at half mast in Milwaukee and many other Wisconsin towns and cities Tuesday in respect to the memory of the former governor. During the day messages of condolence from all parts of the country came to his widow and children and those who had known and worked with Mr. Philipp expressed their profound sorrow at his passing and lauded him as one of the most beloved characters in Wisconsin's public life.

Mr. Philipp was ill only a short time before death came. Sunday he complained to his physician of not feeling well, and was removed to a hospital where he might take a complete rest, under the best of care. Monday morning a heart attack was noted, but was not severe in nature, and during the early afternoon he appeared to be feeling better. Shortly before death overtook him, with his wife and son seated by his bedside, he fell into a deep sleep from which he did not awaken.

TRIBUTE BY BLAINE

Madison — Flags on the capitol are at half mast until after the funeral of former Governor Emanuel L. Philipp.

Governor Blaine paid a tribute to the foresight and consistent determination of former Governor Philipp in the following statement:

"It is with extreme regret that I just learned of the recent death of former Governor Emanuel L. Philipp. Governor Philipp was a man of wonderful physical endurance, but six years of administration as governor were a terrific drain on his physical strength, especially in view of the fact that he bore the executive responsibilities during the long war period. During the last two years of his administration I was officially associated with him while attorney general, and I realized then that his official responsibilities were wearing him out.

"The news of his death comes to me as a personal shock. He and I were as far apart as the poles politically, but on purely official matters, and personally, I had great respect for him.

The governor was an unusual character. Born a poor boy he worked

29 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK DUE TO STORM

Tracks Are Twisted by Lightning and Cause Coaches to Pile Together

By Associated Press

Hackettstown, N. J. — At least 29 are believed to have been killed and scores, injured in the wreck of a special seven car Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad train a mile west of here early Tuesday.

Twisted by lightning and undermined by heavy rains, the tracks gave way beneath the train and the cars and engine piled up on one another.

Reports said the train carried 182 passengers, mostly aliens from Chicago enroute to Hoboken where they were to sail for Europe Tuesday. Most of them were asleep in their berths when coaches pounded upon one another into the steam and scalding water bursting from the wrecked locomotive.

The engineer, fireman and conductor are among the known dead. Fifteen bodies have been taken from the wreckage and others are believed to be beneath the debris.

Thirty-four injured were reported in Eastern hospitals, eight at Phillipsburg, N. J., nine at Dover, N. J., and those in Morristown hospitals. It was said that more victims were enroute to hospitals in the latter towns. One death occurred at the Dover, N. J., hospital.

ENGINEER DEAD

Headquarters of the Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroad in this city announced Tuesday that at least eight persons were killed and more than 50 injured in the wreck near Hackettstown, N. J.

The engineer, fireman and trainman and five passengers in the forward coaches were killed. The engine and four cars were derailed.

Officials said the wreck was caused by a slide of earth which was brought down the steep hillside by a cloud-burst.

ASSEMBLY ADVANCES GRAIN OFFSET REPEAL

By Associated Press

Madison — Assembly opponents of the major income tax bill, enacted at this session of the legislature, succeeded Tuesday in affixing one of their proposals to the senate bill correcting administrative features of the law.

As a result, Assemblyman Blanchard, Ederton, predicted further delay in the complexion of legislative business.

The assembly adopted 48 to 27, an amendment by Assemblyman Minler, New Richmond, repealing the grain and coal occupational tax offset, which he sought since the big income tax bill containing the personal property offset repeal was enacted.

Blanchard appealed to the assembly to kill the measure, because, he said the Menier amendment "will just murder it in the senate" which probably would be voted up the three weeks as a result.

The measure, however, was advanced to third reading 46 to 31 after numerous other admens had been rejected.

"EYE FOR EYE" MADE CHINESE RIOT MOTTO

Washington — Anti-foreign agitation in the Canton vicinity is causing uneasiness in that place and nearby cities. Counsel General Jenkins informed the state department in a dispatch sent from Canton June 12 and received Tuesday:

"During a student demonstration in Wuchow on June 8 a mob yelled 'Kill foreigners' and threw stones at American Baptist hospital," the message said.

RAISING OF U. S. FLAG STIRS IRE OF MEXICANS

Mexico City — Despatches from Puebla say W. O. Jenkins, former United States consul at Puebla, whose kidnapping by Mexican bandits in 1919 created a serious international situation, has hoisted the American flag over all his ranch properties in the state. The dispatch added that orders are feared and much ill feeling has been caused because the Mexicans consider this action a taunt.

FILM MAGNATE INSURED FOR SIX MILLIONS

By Associated Press

New York — William Fox, president of the Fox Film corporation has increased his life insurance to $6,500,000 from $3,000,000 says the spectator, an insurance publication.

The new policy which is underwritten by sixteen companies, makes Fox the second largest insurance risk in the world. The largest known policy holder is Rodman Wanamaker with insurance aggregating $7,500,000.

Mr. Coolidge differs with the commission in its interpretation of basic data, and knowing that the "ultimate duty of determining the matter" rests upon him under the law he felt justified in ignoring the commission's recommendation.

As it has worked out, Mr. Coolidge has in almost every case that he has acted at all proclaimed a higher duty.

The members of the commission itself have been hopelessly divided in debates and controversy almost from the start.

Political pressure has been applied here and there either at the White House or at the commission.

Finally Mr. Coolidge has had to make changes in personnel. It's a different commission today than it was when the very same sugar report was filed with Mr. Coolidge.

The president's statement puts an end to a long drawn out controversy, reveals the fact that the tariff commission is a bi-partisan body and that the president after all is the deciding factor with his power of appointment as well as power of review.

Under the circumstances, it would not be surprising if the director of the budget recommended to President Coolidge that the government might economize by abolishing the commission altogether or at least reducing it to the status of an investigation board which it was during the Wilson administration.

It was thought then that the commission being composed of disinterested persons would sit in a quasi-judicial capacity and that the president's part would be more or less perfunctory in conforming to the recommendations.

It was argued that the tariff would thus be taken out of politics, that the president's self would be relieved of the usual pressure of politics and tariff in

KELLER MADE INDIAN CHIEF AT LEGION CAMP

Red Skins, in War Paint, Add Picturesque Touch to Impressive Ceremony

The two thousand people who drove into the new American Legion camp between Tomahawk and Carr lakes in northern Wisconsin Sunday afternoon to witness dedication of the property were carried back 500 years when they saw Indians, hideous in their war paint and feathers, stalk stealthily from tree to tree as they slunk from the almost black forest to the brightness of the natural amphitheatre in which the dedication ceremony was held. The Indian's ceremonial meeting, at which three officers of the state department of the American Legion made a chief of the Chippewa Indian tribe as an acknowledgement of the tribe's gratitude to the American Legion for the care it gave to disabled Indian soldiers in the World war, Chief Burt-Si, head of the tribe, declared in a brief address to Mr. Keller during the dedication ceremony. Chief Burt-Si, who is about 80 years old, is unable to talk English and his speech was interpreted.

Here is the chief's speech:

"Years ago your people and my people were in constant conflict. Neither understood the other. Time has caused a better understanding, and today we live in peaceful relationship. A few years ago our common country was enslaved in a great war, and in that crisis the young braves of my tribe were united with you boys in supporting our government in the national defense. Many of our boys returned sick, maimed and helpless. The American Legion has given them aid and secured for them medical care and treatment. It was further evidence of that kindly feeling which exists among us. In recognition of that spirit and in acknowledgement of the humanitarian efforts of the American Legion in respect to our disabled Indian boys, our council has voted to make you, Mr. Commander, an honorary chief of the Chippewa tribe with the title of O-Jah-Ne-Nis and to adopt your service officer, James H. Burns, and your editor Guy L. Helm, as honorary members of the tribe."

glion were made members of the Chippewa tribe, was one of the outstanding features of an impressive afternoon. About 30 Indians from northern Wisconsin were in war paint and there were about 50 more Indians in civilian garb at the ceremony. The Indians brought their wives and parents and they made a most picturesque picture.

ROOM TO NORTHLAND
Dedication of the American Legion camp was hailed as one of greatest days in history of northern Wisconsin, and orator after orator declared that this was the beginning of a development of the northland which would eclipse the already phenomenal growth of America's playground. War veterans in all the central west states department's experiment of rehabilitating disabled service men and the are carefully watching the Wisconsin moment it shows a glimmering of success they will also send their disabled men to the lake country and the fame of the great recreation grounds will spread into every city and hamlet of this great territory, speakers said. The camp was formally opened when the flag was raised by Lt. Hugo Keller, Appleton, commander of the state department of the Legion. This was the final act of a dedication program that was filled with thrills. Stirring addresses were given by Judge C. E. Smith of Rhinelander; Adjutant Austin A. Petersen of Milwaukee; vice commander George Howitt of Milwaukee and Commander Keller. After the dedication program the visiting legionnaires were entertained at a banquet in the Oneida hotel at Rhinelander by citizens of that city. A brief program of informal addresses followed the dinner. The principal speakers were Commander Keller, Judge Smith, Mr. Petersen, Mr. Howitt, J. B. Brackett, representative from national headquarters of the Legion; Leo Brown, Rhinelander capitalist who has been an ardent booster for the camp; J. F. Burns, state service officer; R. L. Jarnigan, representative of the United States Veterans Bureau in Wisconsin. All of the speakers stressed the necessity for the camp, declaring that it will fill a need that has long been felt by the Legion.

LOOK INTO FUTURE
Mr. Burns probably summed up the idea best of all when he said that the Legion must look into the future as it prepares for rehabilitating former service men. There will be a greater demand for hospitalization twenty years from now than there is at the present time and he urged preparedness for the time when the ravages of war will make their effect on the bodies of legionaries.

No part of the program created a deeper impression on the crowd than the ceremonial of the Indians at which the legionnaires were adopted into the Chippewa tribe. Mr. Keller was made an honorary chief of the tribe; Mr. Burns was made a medicine man, and Guy Helm, Milwaukee, editor of the Badger Legionnaire, the Legion's weekly newspaper, was made a member of the tribe.

The principal ceremony was centered around Mr. Keller. He was given an elaborate Indian chief's headdress and then all three of the newly made Indians were required to participate in the war dances. The huge crowd went into hysterics of delight as the "honorary" Indians went through the steps of the Indian ceremonial dance.

BLAST OF GAS BURNS BOY AS HE WASHES CAR

Firemen Run to Wrong End of City in Response to Fire Alarm

Confusion in the directional address given over the telephone resulted in the second wild goose chase of the Appleton Fire department within a week, when the fire trucks went to S. Oneida st. on an alarm from Gust. H. Kranzusch, 1814 N. Oneida st., at 7:15 Monday night; Kranzusch's tour car was washed in flames.

Mr. Kranzusch and his son Elmer were washing the car in the driveway, leading to their garage when the soaked wiring caused a short circuit.

Seeing the spark, Elmer Kranzusch raised the hood, and almost immediately a sheet of flame shot into his face, burning his eyebrows and hair, but causing no serious wounds. Mr. Kranzusch ran into the house and turned in the alarm at once, and he and his son pushed the burning car into the street to prevent the house from catching fire if the gasoline tank exploded.

The fire trucks had crossed the S. Oneida st. bridge before they discovered the error, and then turned and drove back in the other direction. When they reached the Kranzusch home the car was sheathed in flames, which they extinguished with chemicals. The body of the car was totally destroyed as well as the top, but the flames did not damage the motor nor did they ignite the gasoline tank. The loss is covered by insurance.

THEFT OF DIAMOND CREATES MYSTERY

The disappearance of a large diamond from the necklace of a wealthy woman, and the substitution of a piece of worthless "paste," so-called, in its place, causes the arrest of a young jeweler's clerk in "The Great Diamond Mystery," the new Shirley Mason picture, which comes to the New Bijou theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Trouble does not end there, however, for within a few hours after the precious gem is lost the head of the diamond firm is killed and the young clerk is accused of the murder. It happens that this same young clerk is engaged to marry a young lady novelist, the part played by Miss Mason, who has just completed a murder mystery story based on the supposition that a murderer inevitably returns to the scene of his murder. William Collier, Jr. is seen as the diamond clerk.

How Ruth Winton, the writer, proves the truth of her theory in order to save her sweetheart from the electric chair and herself from dishonor, is thrillingly told in "The Great Diamond Mystery." Donnison Chit is credited with the direction of this picture, which it goes without saying, is a William Fox production.

FANS SPELLED

Crowded to the core with thrills is the film version of Ethel M. Dell's popular novel, "The Top of The World" now showing at Fletchers Appleton theatre. Some astounding trick photography is seen in this production. James Kirkwood plays parts of two brothers, one a wastrel and the other a gentleman. Their struggle over a girl and the part played by ruthless nature in deciding the conflict furnishes thrills all out of proportion to the length of this photoplay. No more than usual is the story of this Fletchers program. Universal News, Aesops Fables, A Baby Peggy comedy and a reel of the wonders of nature emphasizes the fact which is becoming so well known that the programs at this theatre are invariably more varied, longer and interesting than is customary in cities of this size.

"Don't Bring Lulu," a recent song hit will be featured with Miss Helen E. Page at the organ.

BATHING BEAUTY PARADE

The annual bathing beauty parade of Brighton beach will be held on Wednesday evening, and elaborate preparations have been made for the event. Twenty-eight young women have entered the contest. Two couples will be picked each Tuesday, for several weeks and then a final competition will be held to decide the best fox trotters.

William Schlender, charged with a statutory offense, whose case was adjourned until June 30 when he appeared in municipal court Monday morning for preliminary hearing, was released from the county jail on $750 bond on Tuesday. He had been placed in jail on Monday.

Schlender was brought from Minneapolis, where he was working, by Sheriff P. G. Schwartz under extradition papers signed by Governor Blaine. Mr. Schwartz had some trouble in locating Schlender and when he was found he claimed that he was not the man and attempted to fight extradition until he was convinced that the local men had not made a mistake.

BUYER, SELLER SEEK DAMAGES IN COURT SUIT

Judge Takes Controversy Over Roofing Material Under Advisement After Hearing

With both parties claiming sums of money, the case of Lehman Bros. of Chicago, against the Spletter Bros. Roofing Co. of this city was taken under advisement by Judge A. M. Spencer after a hearing Tuesday morning. The Chicago firm charged the local company with failure to pay a bill for roofing material and the defendants countered with a claim that the material was imperfect and asked for damages.

The Lehman Co. charged that between June 12 and 16 1924, it sold $735 worth of material to Spletter Bros. and that constant demands for payment had not been made by the Appleton firm. The plaintiffs demanded the money with interest from June 16. The answer of the defendant was that it had ordered a liquid tar to cover and patch leaky roofs and that the tar was to be of waterproof asphalt gum reinforced with asbestos fibre. The shipment received was not waterproof coal tar nor pure asphalt gum but was sold to six customers as such. When it was applied to their roofs it not only failed to stop leaks but dried up and disappeared.

The customers did not discover this for some time but when the Spletter Co. came to collect for the work they refused to pay. The Spletter Co. put in a counterclaim for $1,000 said to be lost on time, work and labor on which it was unable to collect. The plaintiff firm denied the counterclaim. Three witnesses, Edward Schnell, route 4, Manitowoc; Arthur Stanelle, Forest Junction, and Howard Campbell appeared for the defense. They stated that they as customers of the Spletter Bros. had used the material, found it to be defective and so refused to pay for the jobs.

Albert Stiltz, Kaukauna the intoxicated driver of the tottering car which contained two other drunken men, was fined $10 and costs in Judge N. D. Schwin's court at Kaukauna Monday morning. He was fined for driving a car while intoxicated. The two men who were accompanying Stiltz home from the stock fair, Louis Gerrits and Anton Stiltz, were each fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct.

The three men were arrested by Chief R. H. McCarty late Saturday afternoon when trying to drive along the railroad tracks. After being given a chance to sober up in Kaukauna jail, the three were released on bail until Monday morning.

BASS FISHING
DOESN'T START
UNTIL JUNE 20

Legislature Makes Several Changes in Wisconsin
Fishing Laws This Year.

Return to the 7-inch minimum length of all trout except lake trout is provided for in the 1925 fish and game laws which have just been published.
Receipt of the pamphlet is awaited here, but John E. Hantschel, county clerk, has not been informed as to when they will arrive.

The size limit was removed two years ago in response to an appeal that it was forcing anglers to kill many small fish unnecessarily. Small fish die after being injured by a hook in most cases, anglers maintained.
By throwing back the small fish caught, a man might kill 40 fish in catching 25 large enough to keep, it was asserted.

For black bass the size limit is 10 inches, and the open season in all localities except the Mississippi river and Green lake is June 20 to March 1. The bag limit is 10 a day. In the Mississippi the season opens June 15 and in Green lake July 1.

The white bass season over which there has been so much dispute at Oshkosh will stay at June 1 to March 1, with a bag limit of 25 fish a day and the minimum length 6 inches.

Strawberry bass, calico bass, silver bass and crotalls may be caught from June 1 to March 1. The bag limit is twenty each day and the minimum length six inches.

Rock bass may be caught during the same period, but the bag limit is larger. Thirty fish, six inches or longer, may be taken each day. In Green
Lake-co there is no closed season on

1, at the rate of 10 each day, none under 16 inches in length. In the is all year round, and no limits are imposed. In Juneau-co, except in that portion of the Wisconsin river may be fished throughout the year, but a bag limit of ten fish and a size limit of 16 inches are the recan be caught each day, and none under 30 inches in length, may be kept.

spawn or fry thereof is forbidden at any season of the year.

the Mississippi river no bag limit is imposed, although the size limit holds good.

Bullheads may be caught at the rate of 30 pounds a day. No size limit except in the Mississippi, Lake Pepin and Lake St. Croix where the minimum length is seven inches. The season is all year.

In the counties bordering on the Mississippi, perch can only be taken from June 1 to March 1, but no size or bag limits are imposed. In Lake Kegonsa, Dane-co, the season is all year and the bag limit 25 perch a day.
In all other waters the season is all year and the limit thirty a day.

Sundish and roach may be taken all year at the rate of 30 a day. No size from March 1 to June 1 will be enforced.

E. L. PHILIPP

Former Governor E. L. Philipp, who died suddenly at the comparatively early age of 63, was an executive of considerable native ability. He had good business judgment and in the first years of his term as governor gave the state an able, constructive and forceful administration. Although lacking a thorough education, he largely made up the deficiency by hard application and diligent effort. Commonly classed with the Republican reactionaries, he was nevertheless a progressive in the sound application of that word. His long activities in the bitterly contested politics of Wisconsin left his name and integrity untarnished. The most fatal mistake he made, so far as the principles for which he stood were concerned, was when he allowed his personal antipathy for Roy Wilcox to blast the conservative Republican cause by bringing out the unfortunate candidacy of Dr. Seaman.

With all due deference to the deceased, we cannot subscribe to the opinion that he was a "great war governor." This news paper is convinced that his attitude was inimical to the dignity of Wisconsin and to its common and self-evident obligations to the nation through that critical period. We will pass over the motives that governed his course, for we would not attempt to say what they were. The most charitable view is that many of his decisions were unfortunate, and were the result of the unhappy rancors which divided the state and involved too many of its public men.

In spite of his shortcomings in these respects, Mr. Philipp gave Wisconsin good government. His record as a state executive for efficiency, vigor and straightforwardness was in sharp and favorable contrast to what has followed. He was essentially a builder. He was public spirited, a hard but fair fighter and a firm believer in the greatness and fullness of Wisconsin's destiny.

A NEW MEXICAN CRISIS

The statement is attributed to President Calles of Mexico, through his embassy at Washington, that his country will not tolerate "foreign interference contrary to the rights of sovereignty." It is added that Mr. Calles has characterized Secretary Kellogg's note as "a threat to the sovereignty of Mexico." His government, he says, "cannot overlook, and rejects with all energy because she does not accord any foreign country the right to intervene in any form in her domestic affairs, nor is she disposed to subordinate her international relations to the exigencies of another country."

To this somewhat bumptuous as well as presumptuous reply, we may be sure the American secretary of state will rejoin with equal vigor. Mr. Calles cannot be sincere in both assertions, namely that Mexico is determined to comply with its obligations under international law and at the same time resent intervention in its foreign affairs by another government. It is precisely the fact that Mexico is not discharging its obligations of international law that has caused the United States to send the note of warning to which its president objects. If Mexico were living up to its duties there would be no occasion for our remonstrance and there would be no remonstrance. That is all we ask for Mexico, but we have asked it in a forceful and almost pre-emptive manner, and that of course is our right.

President Calles' talk about the sovereign rights of Mexico is the usual hypocritical twaddle of these alleged statesmen to the south of us whose nations are constantly causing trouble. We have exercised, as Mr. Kellogg pointed out, the maximum forbearance and patience in dealing with them. We have suffered ten times more from Mexico than we would tolerate from any responsible nation in Europe. If we are to maintain relations with Mexico, Mexico must protect our citizens and their property. We think the government at Washington will make this perfectly clear to his exuberant and conceited highness, Calles. If there is to be another crisis in our relations with Mexico, the men in charge of the Mexican government ought at least be made to realize that it is they and not us which stand to suffer most. The justice of any demand we make upon Mexico is well authenticated by past performances, as well as by the reputation of the United States for square and honest dealing.

JUSTICE A LA CHICAGO

Mike Genna, Chieang, and his gang were in the business of distributing alcohol. The business has big profits. Competition is keen. Men of Mike Genna's gang believe the best way to get more business is to shoot competitors. They did. Last Saturday: Mike and three of his gang were in an auto out looking for more competitors. In addition to the customary revolvers they had with them two repeating and four sawed-off shotguns. Everything and everyone was loaded to the muzzle. They didn't have much time to spare from the pressing demands of the alcohol trade, but even bootleggers must have a lark now and then, a little siesta from the tedium of tending stills and carrying deposits to the bank. The gang ran into some detectives, resisted arrest, a pitched battle ensued. Mike and two of the policemen are dead, a third policeman is dying and two members of Mike's gang, Albert Amschini and John Scalice, taken redhanded, are under arrest.

The policemen killed are fine examples of what manhood can be when rightly directed. The arrested gang, men are fine examples of blood that never should have gotten by Ellis Island. The indifference of these gangsters to the rights of others, human lives or the laws of the land, is appalling. There is a reason for this condition besides their hot Sicilian blood, a reason upon which you can press your finger.

State's Attorney Crowe, when advised of the crime and the evidence against the captured gangsters, stated, "This is an open and shut case and we are going to send these men to the gallows." Easier said than done in Illinois, as Crowe very well knows. Indeed, if Crowe succeeds in meting out any sort of punishment to them, the case will be the exception in Chicago.

Of all the various things that the prosecutor is up against in criminal trials, from sob-sisters to doctors who never saw a criminal that wasn't insane, we think the experienced prosecutor will say that the greatest agency that frees criminals and is thus destroying the fabric of our law, is the dishonest lawyer, the one that fixes up the alibi, prepares the fake bond, sends an agent out to terrorize an important witness or bribe a juror, knows the rules of law well and what evidence is needed and manufactures it, and then comes into court with pious men and pathetically innocent face.

If the prosecutor had some means of preventing the dishonest lawyer from training his witnesses to say what he wants them to say and thus confuse even a perfectly honest jury, a big thing would be accomplished. Why not, right at the start, get rid of the major cause?

KEEPIN' IN TRIM

Stick out your chest, man, and hold up your head and walk till you're weary of limb. Don't let your muscles and system go dead, but keep your old carcass in trim.

Seems to me, folks are too lazy these days. They don't move around like they should. All the old get-up gets down in a daze. It's a fact you could change, if you would.

Too many things are right handy to ride: our street cars, our autos and such. Hence the ambition for walking has died, and we're not exercising so much.

Maybe you'll answer "Aw, shucks, what's the diff. Just walkin''s too tiresome to do." Walk till your joints and your muscles get stiff—then you'll know what I'm sayin' is true.

Next time you decide, just try walkin' instead. A tonic you never can beat. Stick out your chest, man, and hold up your head and give your whole system a treat.

BODY EMANATIONS

In the argument we had here the other day about the cutaneous excretion, you will remember, I managed to work in edgewise, so to speak, this physiological fact:

Nothing of consequence is excreted (eliminated, thrown off) by the skin in health or in sickness, except salt and water.

And right after that the antiphysiologists broke up the meeting.

There's a good deal of mystery about body emanations, and I like mystery as much as anybody, else, in a murder story, but in physiology there are plenty of unsolved, perhaps insoluble, mysteries without deliberately creating them for popular consumption. Will the squeamish reader kindly switch here to something pleasant to read and let us clear up the gruesome mystery with a little plain talk.

Disagreeable odors always have been associated with pestilence and disease and it is a curious circumstance that most people at the present time differentiate cleanliness from filth or uncleanness largely by odor, foreexample the odor which popularly signifies "foul" air or faulty ventilation. This olfactory test seems to hold good in the popular mind only for the human race, when it comes to the question of body emanations. Nearly every animal has its peculiar odor, more or less perceptible to civilized man, even fishes, that spend their lives, you might say, bathing, and yet people with little or no knowledge of physiology are wont to separate the sheep from the goats by this olfactory test alone.

The normal body odor of a healthy, clean person is more or less noticeable and more or less agreeable to other persons, each according to his association of ideas, and all that sort of thing. The odor is a conglomeration of aromatic substances excreted in the sweat (such as butyric acid, formic acid, acetic acid) and perhaps certain odoriferous principles in food (such as the odor of garlic, onions, asparagus) when such articles have been eaten. Positively foul odor arises from retention of sweat by unhygienic clothing or excessive clothing, which permits decomposition to occur. Going barefoot, for instance, or exposing any other portion of the body to the air, never, fails to overcome or cure bromidrosis (foot sweating).

Well washing is a poor substitute for the air bath for cleanliness in this respect. True, one can soften up mud or other accumulations of foreign matter on the skin with water more quickly than with air, but I repeat, a 15-minute air bath every day (if it is impossible to take the air longer) is better than any kind of water bath for aiding the skin to dispose of its emanations or excretions. Remember there is nothing foul, toxic, poisonous or offensive in the sweat, and the skin is self-cleansing if not too greatly hampered by our artificial contrivances.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CONTINUED

"I don't know, Jack," I said, "why everybody seems to think that I shall be unhappy if my baby is not a daughter. I think brothers are perfectly lovely."

Jack seemed to want to change the subject. "Your mother must think I am a brute, Leslie," he said.

"No dear, mother has just been talking about you and I had decided to send to you tonight. So you see we had the same thought at the same time."

"You darling," said my husband and closed my eyes with kisses.

"Jack," I said, "I found out many things today about men and women, age and youth, love and hate, pride and humility and I tell you that I think that to a woman like my dear mother age has many compensations."

Jack pushed his head around so that he could look into my face. "Yes," I answered his look. "I know that women are expected to lose all when they get old. Even now you do not seem to be able to contemplate me with equanimity after my youth has fled. But mother told me today that when a woman has reached the point to where she can look upon her whole life and understand it is good, she has reached a point where she can rest a while and give herself the wonderful pleasure of being a 'looker-on'."

"Let's don't be 'lookers-on', Leslie. That seems to sound as though we might be apart and I never want to be apart from you again. Dearest, I know I was selfish about Alice, but you must understand that it was almost wholly for your sake. I thought she had been horrid and I could not see why it should grieve you as much to know that she was dead especially as you were pretty sure that if she lived she would probably go insane."

"You see, my dear, I have never had any relatives consequently I can never see just why two people, because they belong to the same family, must be friends even while insulting each other."

"You can understand this when you think of my mother and me, Leslie. You know that we are not friends."

"By the way, Leslie, speaking of mother, I had a scorching letter from her the other day. The world is all out of joint with her."

"Mrs. Anderson, however, is going to take her to New York for a short stay. I think that will do her good, don't you?"

I bowed my head. I didn't ask for any more explanations. I did not want to make any reprimands. I only just tried to be happy again.

Jack could stay only 24 hours and I wasn't going to have them spoiled. Two or three times we skated on pretty thin ice, however. One time in particular when Jack unexpectedly tried to tell me something about Nable Carter.

"We're all ready," answered the Twins waving back. "Are you Mister Whizz?"

"Yes, sir! Yes ma'am! That's my name," said the little fellow. "But in this cap and goggles I look more like Mister What-Is-It. Hop right in. That's the way. Plenty of room for everybody."

"Where are we going?" asked Nancy.

"The Fairy Queen's uncle lost his magic snuff," said Mister Whizz. "I'm starting off to find it. The poor fellow hasn't had a good sneeze since last Tuesday morning."

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years, Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach each month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing down feeling gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."

ANOTHER Achievement Accomplished

Our Mr. J. E. Amend (the milk expert), the inventor of the system of Pasteurization as now applied throughout the world, has gained another laurel by perfecting a system to carbonate milk for a Beverage, which in time undoubtedly will revolutionize drinking carbonated beverages. Milk, in its natural state, is the most perfect Food Beverage ever produced, and if, by adding delicious flavors and carbonic gas we can give to the public a Beverage which in every respect resembles any carbonated water, but, give them the most perfect food with it, why?—won't they drink milk instead of water? And this is what Mr. Amend has accomplished. It took him 20 years to perfect this system, but, he has perfected it so much so, that he is able to serve it in different ways, and under different names. It will be put on the market in the near future. One of the drinks is called Ro-No, which we are delivering at present. Just as a Chocolate Malted Milk is made from a 50-50 Blend of Standard Milk, with its butterfat and vitamins, and 50% skim milk, with its minerals and casein, blended with chocolate flavor and Malted Milk. Of this drink, in the next few days, we will deliver a sample of a twelve and one half oz. bottle to all our customers. This size bottle costs 5c, and is put up in Chocolate flavor only at this time, but as soon as the weather gets hot, we will put it up in different flavors, such as Grape, Orange, Root Beer, Chocolate, etc., and last but not least HARVEST MOON. This flavor is especially adapted to hot weather. All these flavored drinks will be carbonated. It will be put out in 12½ oz. bottles and at the same price of 5c, we will carry it in our wagons daily after we deliver the samples, and you can order it right with your milk. Another very important matter about our drink is—we make our own Syrups, and when buying our drink you know everything that goes into the making is fresh, and this is very essential, for, every housewife knows that anything containing sugar is subject to fermentation, and people can't be too careful of what they eat or drink, of which there was an example only a few days ago, when so-called Certified Milk which was shipped into our city poisoned a certain number of children. Therefore, it is well to be careful, and not use foods in eats or drinks, which are subject to fermentation which have been made probably weeks or months before they are bought, and then shipped to destination. Another carbonated Milk Beverage called "My-Lo" will be put on the market in the near future, and will be sold by dealers, any and all that want to handle it. Children like either of these Beverages and should drink them to grow up into sturdy men and women. Adults should drink them to keep up their vitality. There is more food value, by far in milk, than there ever was in alcohol. Alcohol is a stimulant but not a food, therefore drink carbonated milk and retain your senses and your vitality.

COUNTY HAY CROP IS SPOILED BY SPRING DROUTH

CONDITION OF EARLY GRAINS STILL HOPEFUL

Canning Pea Crop Probably Was Too Far Along to Have Been Hurt by Frosts

The extremely dry weather during the early part of this spring and the intermittent cold weather have had a decidedly injurious effect on Outagamie county's hay crop. Recent rains and occasional warm spells have helped, but not enough to do a great deal of good, farmers say. Nevertheless, the outlook for spring rains is still quite satisfactory.

What is true of Outagamie co in regard to the hay situation, is also true of the state as a whole, and in some sections in even a higher degree, according to reports emanating from the crop reporting service from Madison.

Low reserves of soil moisture makes the crop prospect in Wisconsin uncertain. It is said to be very unusual to have drouth in this state in April and May, and crop prospects are, therefore, more than ever dependent upon plenty of rain from now on.

Old meadows are thin and short, and winter-killing of clover and alfalfa was considerable in the southern two-thirds of the state. Hay is poorest in the southwestern part of the state where the drouth was most severe. On June 1 the outlook in that section varied from one-half to two-thirds of a crop and stock had been turned into many fields which were intended for hay. In a group of counties around Sheboygan co winter killing of clover and alfalfa acreage was as much as 25 to 50 per cent. It is extremely fortunate that the hay crop in this state last year was so large and that farmers in southern Wisconsin are carrying over unusually large amounts of old hay.

SEEDING EARLY

Seeding of small grains was extremely early this spring, but dry weather with frequent frosts has kept them backward. Both oats and barley are in a condition however to make rapid improvement with favorable weather. The condition of oats for the state is 88 per cent—about the same as last year and is in better condition in eastern Wisconsin than elsewhere.

Wisconsin farmers put in larger acreage of barley this year, particularly in northern Wisconsin where the corn crop of late years has been extremely poor. In most of the state barley has gained in popularity as an early feed crop for hogs, and it is estimated that the acreage is 16 per cent larger than last year.

PASTURES SHORT

There were early indications that stock would be turned out on pasture at an early date this spring, but the unusual drouth and frequent frosts kept pastures extremely short. In many localities little pasture was afforded up to June 1. The condition of pastures on June 1 has not been as low for the past 12 years, but improvement was rapid after the heavy rains and hot days in early June.

The canning pea crop prospects are very uneven. In southern Wisconsin much of the early acreage was in such a stage of growth that frosts and dry weather have cut down the set of pods. Together with lack of rain, the yield promises to be poor. In northern Wisconsin early peas were not far enough long to be injured by the frost so that in this region the outlook is better. The stand of late peas is uniformly satisfactory, but growth is backward and the prospect is dependent upon rain. The acreage in this state is estimated to be 100,000 acres—slightly less than last year. There are seven new factories to operate this year, but many factories reduced their acreage in fear of good weather and a large pack that could not be disposed of profitably.

BUY BADGER CATTLE FOR NEBRASKA FARMS

Fond du Lac—Nebraska men came to Wisconsin to buy 1,000 head of grade calves of every breed to be used in establishing the dairy industry in that state.

Representatives of the National Dairy Developing company selected the cattle.

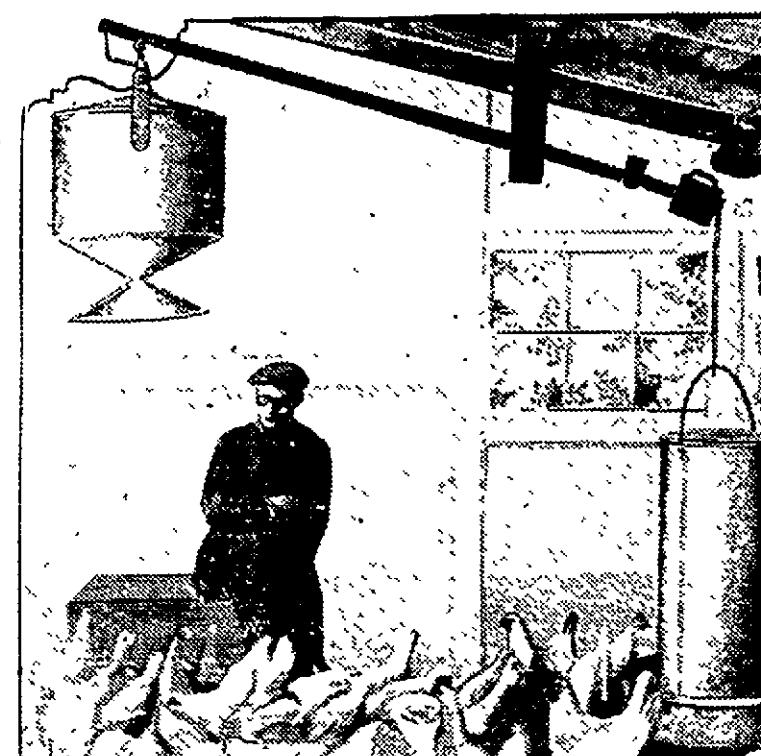

One of the requirements of the Nebraska men is that only cattle with cow testing records will be purchased. Premium prices for calves are being paid. They range from $50 to $60 a head.

APPLES, STRAWBERRIES HURT BY RAIN AND HAIL

Practically the entire apple crop of Waupaca co was ruined by the hail storms during the last few weeks, according to W. C. Fish, local grocer, who returned from a trip to Weyauwega Sunday. Mr. Fish brought a twig of an apple tree with him and the result of the hail was easily seen. Large pockmarks and indentations the size of the hailstones which hit the young apple appear on its sides, giving it a withered effect. There probably will be a small crop of apples this year and the prices will be very high, local grocers predict. Strawberries may be in the same class because of the failure of the blossoms to come out, they said.

HENS REGULATE OWN FEED

CHILDS PARTLOW AND HIS AUTOMATIC FEEDER

Rock Hill, S. C.—Poultry in this district are regulating their own ration of mash and grain feed through the use of a veteran's invention.

Childs Partlow is the veteran. His invention is an automatic feed regulator which each day provides a balanced ration for a flock.

The feeder, Partlow reports, makes the hens lay more eggs and enables one man to feed 10,000 hens more easily than he could 500 by the old method.

All it consists of is a simple balancing bar with a hopper of scratch feed on one end, and one of mash on the other. After supplying a certain amount of mash

Madison—Dairy farmers throughout Wisconsin are holding cattle judging contests at their various meetings and picnics this summer to qualify for the national farmers' judging contest to be held in October as one of the main events of the National Dairy exposition at Indianapolis. Prof. George C. Humphrey, animal husbandman of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, announced.

The judging contests have proved to be highly instructive and beneficial in developing the ability of farmers to select good dairy cows, he said.

The national contest is restricted to actual dairy farmers who have no previous experience in contest judging.

Seeding of small grains was extremely early this spring, but dry weather with frequent frosts has kept them backward. Both oats and barley are in a condition however to make rapid improvement with favorable weather. The condition of oats for the state is 88 per cent—about the same as last year and is in better condition in eastern Wisconsin than elsewhere.

Wisconsin farmers put in larger acreage of barley this year, particularly in northern Wisconsin where the corn crop of late years has been extremely poor. In most of the state barley has gained in popularity as an early feed crop for hogs, and it is estimated that the acreage is 16 per cent larger than last year.

BOVINE T. B. FIGHT MAY REQUIRE EXTRA SESSION

Madison—A special session of the legislature has become probable to settle the fight now on to appropriate money to carry on the fight against bovine tuberculosis.

Two bills have been advanced to engrossment in the upper house. One by Senator Herman Severson (Iola), would appropriate more than a million dollars a year to eradicate tuberculosis among cattle. The other is by the committee on finance and appropriates a sum of $750,000 a year.

Both measures have been amended and Senator A. E. Garey, administration leader, intimated that if either bill were passed in present form it would mean an executive veto.

Senator William Smith, Neillsville, introduced a resolution today to have both bills referred to a joint session of the agriculture committees of both houses. Sixteen senators voted for this resolution and ten against, and the resolution failed because it required a two-thirds vote.

More Farmers Turning To Electric Power Use

similar rate of only 1/20th of 1 per cent.

Yet the demand for rural electrical services is growing steadily. Power utilized on farms is increasing annually at the rate of one-quarter horsepower for each farm in the country.

Farmers' co-operatives are helping in the distribution of electric light and power by the purchase of electricity as groups and distributing it among their members.

With these organizations working for better application of power on the farms, and with other means of developing the use of rural electricity, government officials believe that the next 10 years may see half of the farms of the country electrified.

MENASHA NEWS

CHARLES WINSEY, News Representative
MENASHA NEWS DEPOT
Circulation RepresentativeCOUNTRY NEEDS HONOR ELLIOT ON GOLDEN JUBILEE
TO FLAG IDEALSAttorney Thomas H. Ryan
Principal Speaker at Elk Flag Day Ceremony

Menasha—With crime increasing and church attendance decreasing, Attorney Thomas H. Ryan of Appleton, speaker at the flag day exercises of the Twin City Elks at Menasha park Monday evening called attention to the need of greater devotion to the flag and to the country it represents. He stressed the necessity of everyone doing his duty to his flag, the church, the schools and the nation.

The exercises were held beneath the spreading branches of the trees of the park. A grassy plot was converted into a lodge room around which more than 500 persons assembled to participate in the program. They marched to the park headed by Chief of Police James Lyman, four girls carrying a large flag and the Eagle drum corps of Neenah. Following the drum corps were the city officers, Ladies Auxiliary of the Henry J. Lenz post of the American Legion and members of the Elks.

The program opened with the singing of "Star Spangled Banner" by Miss Naomi Oberweiser at the piano. This was followed by introductory exercises by the exalted ruler and officers and by prayer by the chaplain, the Rev. George Weik. The flag record was read by C. J. Oberweiser after which the audience sang "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

The altar service was then given by the exalted ruler and officers and was followed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the officers and members. The drum corps rendered a selection after which Austin Longworth gave a recitation. "Hail the Flag."

ELKS ARE LEADERS

This ceremony speaks well for this Lodge. "I hope it will be followed by other lodges in this vicinity. I want to say at the outset that the Elks deserve great credit as has already been said it is the only order that makes it obligatory for each member to have a flag day celebration. The Elks is a great patriotic organization and if there was nothing more done by this order than in arousing patriotic impulses it would deserve a place in this country."

"It is incumbent upon each of us as citizens of this country to know the flag; to know what it stands for, the purpose of loving it and honoring it. It has been said that George Washington designed the flag. It is a fact of history that Betsy Ross made the first flag. Congress adopted it by resolution June 14, 1777."

"That flag which has carried us from a nation of a few thousand to a number of millions, has never known defeat. Why? Because our flag has always stood for certain principles: freedom of the press; freedom of religion; popular education, and universal suffrage."

WHY U. S. IS GREAT

The history of the world shows us these things. We have had autocracy where the ruler claimed his right as divine. We have had democracy where the people claimed to rule. We have had nations of one kind and another and yet it remained for America and this flag to stand for the things that the world now recognizes as most needed.

"Remember this, it is not our resources, it is not our people that has made this a great nation. Russia claims today to be a republic, a soviet republic, yet in Russia today there is great tyranny. Mexico claims to be a republic and yet the people have not the rights of Germany or England."

"Russia has as great resources as we have, Mexico has all the elements we have and yet there is no stability, no justice in those countries. Why? Because they have not that which we have, a constitutional government of the people, a representative government. The constitution is the fundamental law of this land and is a wonderful instrument."

The difference between an old government and a new is this: There is as much danger in mob rule as there is under the rule of a king. I would just as soon live under a czar as under the soviet republic of Russia. The most dangerous thing in the world and the most unreasonable is a mob. The rights of the people are more in danger with mob rule than with the rule of an emperor."

"We have a representative government. We have a government where the people elect representatives to enact laws and enforce laws that apply uniformly."

K. S. Dickinson is captain of the Riverview squad and H. H. Peckley captains the Butte des Morts group. The two captains will meet this week to make pairings. Three Riverview men also are preparing for the interstate golf match on Monday when teams of twenty men from the Upper Peninsula Golf association of Michigan and Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association meet at the Riverside country club, Marinette-Menominee. Jack Stevens, C. S. Dickinson, and K. S. Dickinson, will represent Appleton on the Wisconsin team.

The umpire should reach his decision as quickly as possible on an infield fly and immediately let the team in the field as well as the baserunners know his judgment on the play.

If he doesn't believe the fly ball can be handled by an infielder, he simply remains silent. If he believes it can, he calls an infield fly.

The calling of an infield fly resolves itself purely into a matter of judgment. A certain hit ruled an infield fly by one umpire might not be so regarded by another umpire.

An infield fly is merely a fair fly-ball, other than line drive, that in the opinion of the umpire can be handled by an infielder.

The umpire should reach his decision as quickly as possible on an infield fly and immediately let the team in the field as well as the baserunners know his judgment on the play.

If he doesn't believe the fly ball can be handled by an infielder, he simply remains silent. If he believes it can, he calls an infield fly.

The calling of an infield fly automatically retires the batsman, protects the runners and permits them to advance at their peril as on any other fly ball.

After the umpire once rules a fair ball an infield fly, it makes no difference who handles the ball. If an outfielder should make the play and make the ball, it would not matter. Once the hit was ruled an infield fly, that settled it, the batsman was out.

FOX RIVER TRIMS REFORMATORY, 12-4

Finding their batting eye on Saturday the Appleton Fox River team clouted out 16 solid blows to defeat the strong Green Bay reformatory squad by a 12 to 4 score at the reformatory field. "Date" Crowe held the reformatory boys to seven scattered blows and struck out 12 men while his teammates were getting in the heavy hits.

The losers scored two runs in the third on a single and two doubles and two in the final frame. Appleton scored three times in the sixth and four more in the ninth frame. Schultz and Baetz each clouted four hits for the Papermakers. Radtke got three and Crowe, two. Every man on the local crew drove out a hit with the exception of Brockhouse.

Score:

Appleton ..... 011 203 014—12 16

Green Bay ..... 0002 009 002—4 7

Batteries: Appleton—Crowe and Brockhouse; Green Bay—A. Peterson and Gamache.

DEPAOLO COPS 1925 RACING CHAMPIONSHIP

Altoona, Pa.—By his victory in the 250 mile automobile speedway race here Saturday, Peter De Paolo gained enough points to give him the 1925 championship. Officials of the American Automobile Association are expected to award the title to De Paolo before he leaves next week to participate in the grand prix at Verviers, Belgium.

EDERLE BREAKS 2 MORE MARKS BEFORE BIG SWIM

By Associated Press

New York—Fortified with two new records, Miss Gertrude Ederle, 17-year-old wonder mermaid of the Women's Swimming Association, will swim Wednesday for England, where she will attempt to swim the English Channel next month.

Miss Ederle Monday shattered the men's record made by the late George E. Mehan of Boston, in winning a marathon contest in 1911 for the 21-mile route from the Battery to Sandy Hook in New York bay. Her time for the distance was 7 hours, 11 minutes, 20 seconds. The distance was never before negotiated by a woman.

Miss Ederle broke the world's record for 150 yards free-style Sunday.

Throughout the swim she did not touch food or drink. Upon completing the distance she showed no signs of exertion and ate heartily.

Berling—Richard Teichmann, well-known chess master, died.

LOCAL GOLFERS IN TOURNAMENT WITH BIG STARS

Dickinson Brothers and Jack Stevens in Meet With Evans, Hutchison

Menominee, Mich.—Chick Evans, one of America's premier amateur golfers, and W. F. Kerwin of Green Bay, are matched against Jock Hutchison, former British open champion and F. X. St. Peter of Menominee, for exhibition play here next Sunday, preliminary to the opening of the Interstate association team match. On Monday twenty players from the Northern Wisconsin association will meet players from the Upper Michigan association.

Kerwin, champion of the Northeastern Golf Association, is captain of the Wisconsin team and St. Peter is captain of the Michigan players. Three out of the first five annual team matches between the two associations were won by the Wisconsin aggregation, consequently they have permanent possession of the trophy cup. This year's match is the first for a new trophy.

The Wisconsin team will include the following:

W. F. Kerwin, M. E. McMillan, A. C. Wittenberg, Green Bay; George S. Wittenberg, L. M. Brownell, Manitowoc, H. M. Wyatt, B. K. Miller, Fond du Lac, M. Evans, A. Wieschmann, Wausau; T. S. McNichol, M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh; K. S. Dickinson, Jack Stevens, C. S. Dickenson, Appleton; A. B. Bock, G. Kent, Harold Satre, Sheboygan; George Berkley and James Gibson, Wisconsin Rapids

VETERANS GO TO 127TH REUNION

Nine Appleton Persons Take Part in Festivities at Beaver Dam

Appleton people who attended the first annual convention of the One-hundred and Twenty-seventh Infantry of the Thirty-second division in Beaver Dam Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Geltzmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sauter, Eric Galpin, Peter Berlinger and Worth Bushey.

A banquet at the Beaver Dam armory was an entertainment featured Saturday evening, and this was followed by a "Night in Paris" staged at Crystal lake, near Beaver Dam, where dancing was enjoyed. On Sunday afternoon a parade of the veterans was formed at the armory, and marched to Swans City park, where concert was given by the American Legion band. Speakers at the convention sessions were regimental officers and the mayor of Beaver Dam. At business session Sunday morning the following officers were elected: President, Fred Rymer, Marshfield; vice president, Paul W. Schmidt, Sheboygan; treasurer, George O'Connell, Madison; permanent secretary, Leo Levernick, Madison. Three hundred and twenty-five delegates attended the meeting. The next convention will probably be held at Marshfield.

HUNDREDS ACCOMPANY CHOIR TO SAENGERFEST

Several hundred Appleton Lutherans attended the saengerfest of the Fox River Valley Lutheran Saengerfest at Fond du Lac Sunday, and 43 choristers from the various Lutheran churches here participated in the singing. More than 2,500 people from all over the valley crowded the Fond du Lac fair grounds almost to capacity, and the saengerfest was one of the most successful held in recent years.

Number of Permits Exceeds Last Year by 19—Big Projects Missing

Seventeen building permits were issued by the city building inspector during the past week, bringing the total for the year up to 320, which is 19 more than had been issued at this time last year. During the week from June 17 to 24, 1924, however, 25 permits were issued, and cost estimates covered by the 301 permits issued up to that time amounted to $1,280,070, which is almost twice the amount of cost estimates this year.

The cost of buildings to be constructed under permits issued last week will be $32,673, whereas for the same week last year it was $29,015, although the number of permits issued last year was greater. Out of the 320 permits issued thus far in 1925, 87 were for residences and 183 for garages, while last year there were 72 residence permits issued up to the same date and 185 for garages.

APPLETON GIRLS WIN BIBLE LEAD

Irma Gillette and Elsie Goodrich Qualify for Final Story Contest

Two Appleton girls won first and second places in the Methodist district Bible story telling contest Sunday evening in Clintonville. Miss Irma Gillette won first place, telling the story of Daniel or the young man who lived a clean life, and Elsie May Goodrich, won second place by telling the story of Paul before Agrippa. Both girls had won the local and district contests which were held a few months ago, and now they are qualified to enter the conference contest in Waupaca sometime in August to compete for the conference prize.

Each entrant in the contest is required to learn ten Bible stories. A short time before the contest opens, the contestants draw the story each is to tell and each person has the same amount of preparation time.

Rains Spoil Fishing

Turbulent streams caused by the rains of the last few days have spoiled much of the fishing around Appleton, according to reports of local fishermen. Several of the men returned from weekend trips without a single member of the finny tribe on their stringer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Luebke and family left Appleton Saturday morning for California where they will make their home.

In one minute—just that quick—the pain ends. Nothing so safe, sure, thoroughgoing and scientific in every way as

"Put one on—the pain is gone."

SHERIFF SEES HAVOC OF STORM ON JOURNEY

Tremendous havoc was wrought throughout the western part of the state by the rains and storms of the last few days, according to P. G. Schwartz, county sheriff, who returned from a 4-day trip through that section on Monday. Bridges and stretches of railroad were washed out in some places making travel practically impossible.

At one place along the route, the large number of houses, barns and fences turned over or ripped up gave the appearance of a cyclone having struck.

Mr. Schwartz was unable to telephone to Appleton from Minneapolis. He left Madison at 12:30 Thursday noon and reached Minneapolis at 4:30 Friday afternoon, he said.

To Modest About-To-Be-Husbands—

It will be your wedding day, too, but it will be the lady in the case who will have the center of the stage. It will be your modest privilege to provide the background.

And for many years to come it will be your modest privilege (and duty) to provide the "greenbackground" that will enable her to have the home, the pretty clothes, and the happiness you want her to have.
